

Can I use my soundcard in a Dual Processor computer?

Dual processor computers are designed for servers and business applications, which usually does not require the use of a sound card.

You should be able to install your soundcard on a dual processor system, but we do not guarantee results. As the computer may not correctly allocate resources when tasks are divided between the 2 CPUs under heavy graphical and audio loads such as gaming, you may run into audio or performance problems